

Dementia

Aug 2019a

Library &
Information
Service

Guidance

Dementia data and analysis: a guide for health professionals This updated guide explains how commissioners and health professionals can use data and analysis for decisions about dementia services and interventions.

Quick Guide: allied health professionals enhancing health for people in care homes This quick guide aims to support local health and social care systems in improving the health of people living in care homes, with practical examples of how the allied health professions (AHPs) can support implementation and roll-out of the framework for enhanced health in care homes.

Driving with Dementia Does a diagnosis always mean that a person with dementia will stop driving?

Report

Going the Extra Step: A compendium of best practice in dementia care Preventing unwanted isolation and loneliness for people with dementia living in housing with care.

Review

Review of apps and other digital technology to assess cognition in older adults This blog covers a clinical review of technologies available or in development for assessing cognition, from at risk populations through to people living with a diagnosis of dementia.

Statistics

Deaths registered in England and Wales: 2018 This updated bulletin explains statistical data about deaths by age, sex, underlying cause, and leading causes by area and year of age. Commentary from the Alzheimer's Society

Study

Association of social contact with dementia and cognition: 28-year follow-up of the Whitehall II cohort study Findings from this study suggest a protective effect of social contact against dementia and that more frequent contact confers higher cognitive reserve, although it is possible that the ability to maintain more social contact may be a marker of cognitive reserve.

Article

'Time Travel' as Dementia Care is Spreading This article discusses a new idea that couples the dementia village concept with research on reminiscence to create a "time-travel" model of care, such as the Glenner Town Square in San Diego, "designed inside to replicate a small, 1950s town in order to facilitate reminiscence".