HEE and the Council of Deans of Health have agreed that healthcare students on placements of any length during the Covid-19 pandemic should be working under a remunerated contract of employment, like those on emergency placement arrangements. First year students will generally be excluded from this arrangement. The contract should confer death in service cover through the opportunity to be in the NHS pension scheme while remuneration recognises the ongoing exceptional circumstances which may impact on the placement experience. The arrangements are time limited as they are a specific response to the level four pandemic and will be reviewed in June 2020 with a view to ending these at the end of the 2020 Summer term
